30 U.S. Bombers Hit North Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI)—Thirty American B52 jet bombers roared close to the North Vietnamese border today and rained 500 tons of explosives on a known haven for Viet Cong guerrillas guarding the vital Ho Chi Minh Trail.

As the Strategic Air Command's Guam-based bombers carried out their seventh and northernmost strike of the war, dozens of other U.S. Air Force and Navy planes attacked bridges, barges and army barracks in North Viet Nam.

All previous strikes by the B52 bombers have been targets in the dense South Vietnamese jungles surrounding Saigon. The planes today attacked the Communist Do Xa headquarters just south of the 17th parallel—the dividing line between the two countries.

Attack Arms Barracks

The largest raid reported over North Viet Nam today was staged by 14 U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks, supported by five F8 Crusaders against the Vinh army barracks, 140 miles south of Hanoi.

A U.S. military spokesman said more than 75 sorties were flown against the Communist north. Twelve buildings were reported damaged in the raid on the Vinh barracks.

The spokesman said the planes, all from the aircraft carrier Midway, dropped more than 38 tons of bombs on the area. He said pilots encountered no anti-aircraft fire and all returned safely.

In other action, a widespread search for Communist guerrillas by thousands of American infantrymen and paratroopers south of Saigon ended today as elements of the U.S. forces began returning to their headquarters at Bien Hoa. The five-day sweep netted only two Viet Cong killed and two captured.

Reds Fade Away

The guerrillas faded into the jungle avoiding any major contact. A spokesman said artillery fire was "placed" on a Viet Cong platoon observed Sunday but there were no reports of casualties. The spokesman said numerous trenches, clothing and a large cache of rice were found in one Viet Cong village taken by the airborne troops.

In Saigon, American military commanders said they expect Communist Viet Cong guerrillas to launch a major offensive before the next big wave of American reinforcements arrives in South Viet Nam.

The private predictions by senior officials followed week-end air raids in which U.S. planes struck deeper than ever before into North Viet Nam. At the same time Communist Viet Cong guerrillas launched 24 attacks on government outposts around the Saigon area during the three-day period ending today, a military spokesman announced. The attacks close to the capital were seen as a prelude to a new Viet Cong monsoon offensive which the military commanders predicted would be unleashed within the next two weeks.

Rain Likely To Increase River Flow

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Delaware River, which is deteriorating both in quality and quantity, received some much needed rain early today and last night along the upper reaches of the river.

While Bucks County received less than a quarter-inch of rainfall, heavier amounts were reported in North Jersey, along the Jersey coast and in the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area.

Wilkes-Barre had its heaviest rainfall since March, 1964, between 12:18 p.m. yesterday and 8 a.m. today, with precipitation measuring 2.08 inches.

Within 90 Days

Parched and dry Newark, N.J., which may run out of water within 90 days, received .75 inches of rain.

Along the Jersey shore, the wind-shipped rain caused minor flooding and dropped sizeable measurements, including Cape May, 2.31 inches; Atlantic City, 1.96; Seaville, 2.75, and Seaside Park, 3.25 inches.

The Trenton Weather Bureau recorded 13 one-hundredths of an inch while Central Bucks County had 25 one-hundredths of an inch.

While the rainfall's effect will not bring immediate results, the Delaware River flow is expected to show an increase by Wednesday. The river's flow today at the Calhoun St. Bridge was 1,600 cubic feet per second, a rise from Friday's reading of 1,320 cubic feet per second.

Most areas along the Upper Delaware received at least an inch of rain the past 24 hours.

The weatherman, while pointing out that much of the rain last night and today would not run off, said "it will prepare the soil for the next rain."

Beirf showers and a possible thundershower were in today's forecast for Lower Bucks.

Holding Our Own

Richard A. Bailey, Bucks County agricultural agent, said yesterday's rain "helped the lawns and drought-stricken farm corps. We're just about holding our own," he remarked.

Forty-one Pennsylvania counties have been declared drought disaster areas by Gov. William W. Scranton for farm drought relief. Many farmers are being victimized by drought-stunted corn for the fourth year in a row. Also, grazing lands for cattle have been hit by the prolonged drought.

The Delaware River during July had the lowest volume of flow in the 53 years such data has been collected by the U. S. Geological Survey in Trenton.

Fire yesterday routed a Bristol Township family of five and caused an estimated $5,500 damage to the second floor of their home.

The blaze, which broke out at 7:45 a.m., awakened Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards of 2401 Fleetwing Drive, Fleetwing Estates, and their three children. The children were asleep in a front bedroom on the second floor.

Jerry Barner, chief of Edgely Fire Co. No. 1, said the blaze was caused by a short circuit in a fan which set the children's bed afire.

Burned On Foot

The youngest child, two-year-old Eugene, was burned on the foot. His screams awakened his parents who carried Eugene, James Jr., 3, and Darlene, 4, to safety before firemen arrived.

The entire second floor was aflame when firemen arrived, Barner said. It took 25 minutes before firemen brought the blaze under control.

Levittown Fire Co. No. 2 stood by for Edgely.

Barner said damage to house was estimated at $3,000 with another $2,500 in damage to furnishing and other contents. The first floor sustained smoke and water damage.

Registrars Sit Today

Voter registrations are being conducted today from 2 to 9 p.m. at the Samuel K. Faust Elementary School in Nottingham Village, Bensalem Township.

The traveling registrars will be at the Hugh Carcella Community Center, 920 Trenton Road, Falls Township, tomorrow during the same hours and on Wednesday at the Newportville Fire House, Newportville Township, and Lacey Park School on Jacksonville Road, Warminster Township.

Work Begins On Middletown Addition

By GREG NAGY
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The rasping buzz of power saws cut through the quiet of the summer morning today as land was cleared for a $146,931 construction project at the Middletown Township Municipal Building site on New Rodgers Road.

Township employees will have to contend with the sounds of growth until next January when the addition to the existing building and highway garage are expected to be completed.

Middletown's supervisors and Barry R. Evans, township manager, are particularly pleased that the project will cost less than $150,000. Original bids totaled $164,000, but were reduced by "negotiations and alterations in the specifications," Evans said.

The project will be financed under a $495,000 capital improvements bond issue approved last summer.

Conference Room

Adjoining the present meeting room will be a 46-by-60 foot addition with offices for the township manager, the building and plumbing inspectors, bookkeeper and administrative assistants. Also, a large conference room will be built for caucus meetings of the supervisors.

The existing offices of the township managers and the other administrators will be taken over by the police department, which will expand from its present basement offices.

The highway garage will be built behind the municipal building. The presently used garage facilities on Hulmeville Road will be sold, Evans said.

The new garage, 48-by-152 feet, will house all of the highway department's equipment as well as the offices and lockers of the highway superintendent and his workers. There will be three garage areas for highway trucks and a repair area.

Wage Laws

On the subject of cost, Evans said state "prevailing wage" laws force the township to spend more money in the construction of the building.

On any construction project in excess of $25,000, the state's Department of Labor and Industry demands minimum wages based on Philadelphia union demands, Evans explained. Since the cost

Harrisburg Playing 'Game Of Names'

HARRISBURG (AP) — It is time once more to play the great "Game of Names" in Harrisburg, heart of state government and the main artery of politics in this Commonwealth.

Every time a major appointment within state government is pending, the capital city goes topsy-turvy in speculation as to just who the nominee might be.

So it is with the selection of a new superintendent of public instruction.

The Scranton Administration has been screening diligently a vast arena of candidates to fill the vacancy created by the resignation in May 1964 of Dr. Charles H. Boehm.

The situation is rapidly ap-

proaching a selection date.

Observers feel that once Gov. Scranton gets legislation through the General Assembly to make a salary raise for the superintendent — from $20,000 to $30,000 — effective immediately, an appointment will follow shortly.

The important post has been vacant for more than a year now. The search for a successor to Boehm has been intensive and thorough.

The time is at hand for Scranton to pick his man.

Thus, it also is time for reporters to make public their findings.

This is how the great "Game of Names" is played.

It's a simple chore if your sources are cooperative.

But everyone connected with the screening process played this one close to the vest.

Now that an appointment is close at hand, more and more names are leaking out in the best traditions of the new game.

Among state contenders a soft-sell campaign reportedly has been initiated to win the post for Dr. Neal Musmanno, presently a deputy state superintendent.

Musmanno has many friends in Pennsylvania and was listed among the recommendations received by Scranton, although re-

For White Collar Workers Committee OK Seen For Increase In Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House committee is expected to approve this week a proposed pay hike for government white collar workers — their 12th raise since 1945.

A House post office and civil service subcommittee passed a bill authorizing a 4.5 per cent increase as of next Oct. 1. A second pay raise of about 4 per cent would go into effect the following year.

The wage plan, which is expected to cost the taxpayer about $1.2 billion, would affect 1.8 million employees — 1.1 million so-called classified employees, 600,000 postal employees, and 100,000 individuals working in miscellaneous agencies.

Under the plan, the lowest classified employee would get $3,538 a year and the highest — $25,602. The maximum does not include the higher-paid agency heads, assistant secretaries and secretaries.

President Johnson has not taken a stand on the proposal but it is known that the administration has found many "objectionable" features in the pay raise bill.

Police Probe 3 Burglaries

Bristol Township police are investigating three burglaries which took place at two homes and a skating rink on Saturday.

Ivory J. Hunter of 2308 Bloomsdale Road, Bloomsdale Garden, reported the theft of two bottles of hair tonic, three bottles of dye, two jars of hair straightener, three hand razors, a barber jacket and assorted change from his home. The items were valued at $75.

Robert Kramer of 4400 Newportville Road reported the theft of two bottles of whisky, valued at $9, from his home where thieves entered by forcing an upstairs window.

About $85 worth of items were taken from the concession stand of the Croydon Skating Rink, State Road and Cedar Ave., Croydon. Pat Dunleavy, the owner, said the burglars gained entrance by crawling through a crawl space in the rear of the building.

Police believe a group of youths threw stones at the plate glass door to gain entry. Middle-town Township Patrolman Norbert Banach, first to arrive on the scene, gave chase to a boy as he fled from the store. The youth managed to escape in the Indian Creek section of Levittown.

Police said the burglary occurred at 1 a.m. Store officials reported $15 in cash had been taken.

Bucks Man Hurt In 2-Car Crash

LAMBERTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A New Hope, Pa., man was listed in serious condition and his son was reported satisfactory today in Hunterdon Medical Center in nearby Flemington as the result of a two-car accident that killed one person.

Rolla Kuhns Sr., 36, driver of one of the autos, and his son, Rolla Jr., 13, were both taken to the hospital after the crash Saturday that killed Hugh R. Allshouse, 35, of Lambertville.

Police said Allshouse was a passenger in the Kuhns' auto, which crashed into a vehicle driven by Mrs. Margaret Kelly, 58, of Upper Saddle River. Police said Mrs. Kelly and her husband Richard, 63, were treated for minor injuries and released.

Police also apprehended two Levittown boys, aged 15 and 16 years, with Spaide. The three were seated in a parked car in front of Heston's, Newportville-Fallsington Road, at 1:30 a.m., police reported.

The two juveniles were turned over to their parents to await further action.

Jerome Spaide, 19, of 25 Pennsive Lane, Pinewood, Levittown, was arrested yesterday by Bristol Township police on a charge of drinking under the age of 21.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Melvin, Fairless Hill's, the youth pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $25 and $9 costs.

Police also apprehended two Levittown boys, aged 15 and 16 years, with Spaide. The three were seated in a parked car in front of Heston's, Newportville-Fallsington Road, at 1:30 a.m., police reported.

King Begins Phila. Visit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King begins a two-day visit here today, including a stop at Girard College, scene of integration demonstrations for the past three months.

King's visit had been placed in doubt over the weekend when Cecil B. Moore, local head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, accused some sponsors of the visit of intending to use it to divide the city's Negroes.

Moore said Saturday King had agreed not to come, but an aide to the civil rights leader said the visit was still on, and King flew in from Atlanta, Ga., as planned, Sunday night.

"We have come to further acquaint ourselves with the civil rights movement here," King said after stepping off a plane at International Airport. "And we have come to support the leadership here."

King said he wanted to "see conditions as they exist," adding, "We are here not to establish a movement, but to support the one that is already here... to raise money, which will be turned over to the local groups right in this city."

Raging Forest Fires Drive Riviera Visitors To Beaches

TOULON, France — (UPI) — Thousands of Riviera vacationers were stranded but safe today after a Dunkirk-type rescue from raging forest fires which drove them to the beaches.

The evacuation of the vacationers, many of them foreign tourists, ended around 2 a.m. (9 p.m. Sunday EDT).

Five persons were reported to have suffered superficial burns. But considerable damage was done to villas and inland trailer and camp sites.

The fire, which may have been started in the tinder-dry brush and timberland by a careless camper, was fed by the "mistral," a wind which sweeps over the Riviera even in summer.

The blaze raced towards the sea, sending campers fleeing ahead of it yesterday.

By last night the 60 miles per hour mistral had fanned the fire down Cape Benat on a 12 miles front. Other fires started near Le Lavandou and in the hills 25 miles east of here.

By nightfall, nearly 10,000 vacationers were camping on the beaches.

Another Dunkirk

Maurice Herzog, French minister for youth and sport, and local authorities organized a fleet of small pleasure boats to evacuate tourists from the most threatened parts of the beaches to safer areas.

"It's another Dunkirk," said one bathing suit-clad refugee.

He referred to the World War II beach evacuation of British and French troops before they could be captured by the advancing Germans.

"I think all danger is over now," Herzog said this morning.

He paid tribute to the firemen, boatmen and rescue workers for the speed at which the operations were carried out.

Main Building Saved

As the winds dropped this morning the fire died down in all but a few points, leaving more than 50,000 acres of valuable forest and a number of camps and villas burnt out.

The whole annex of the Grand Hotel at Bormes-Les-Mimosas in the hills some distance inland was destroyed but the main building was saved.

'Assistance Week' In Twp. School District Aids Taxpayers

A Taxpayers Assistance Week has been announced by the business office of the school district of Bristol Township in connection with the filing of Mercantile tax returns.

John Russo, who is in charge of the program, announced that he is available this week from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today through Friday. Taxpayers may telephone WI 3-3200, Extension 34 to get their questions answered or may come in person to the school district's office at 800 Coates Ave., Edgely, he said.

Russo pointed out that professional services and all other services are taxed for the first time in the year just completed, and that he anticipated that these changes in the law would create questions.

The mercantile tax returns are due on or before Aug. 16, and should be accompanied by a check or money order in full payment of the tax due.

Vietnamese Court Will Try Kimball

SAIGON (AP)—A South Vietnamese court will try Robert Kimball for the killing of his American boss and a Vietnamese woman, a U.S. government spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said that if convicted, the 37-year-old American adviser to the Vietnamese police would face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment and a minimum of five years in jail. Although South Viet Nam has the death penalty, Kimball will be tried on a charge similar to second degree murder, a police source said.

Last week police said Kimball confessed killing 44-year-old Jack E. Ryan, chief of the U.S. aid mission's public safety (police) division, and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, 26, the wife of a Vietnamese air force captain. They were shot in the yard of Ryan's home on the night of July 23.

Kimball reportedly signed a statement saying he had been dating Mrs. Hai for two years and became jealous of Ryan. Kimball's estranged wife lives in Salt Lake City, Utah, with their 7-year-old son, Kim.

Crash Ruins Truck, Car

A Falls Township Authority truck was totally destroyed today when it was struck by an auto driven by a Barnesat, N.J. man at Trenton and Tyburn Roads.

The truck, traveling east on Trenton Road, was driven by Albert R. Young, 62, of 644 Austin Drive, Fairless Hills. The auto was driven by Joseph C. Himes, 58.

Neither driver was seriously injured. Falls Township police charged Himes, who was traveling south on Tyburn Road, with going through a stop sign.

After the Himes auto, which was also totally destroyed, struck the truck it skidded into a third auto stopped for a traffic light on Tyburn Road.

The third auto, driven by Mark Hartnett, 17, of 109 Eventide Lane, Elderberry Pond, Levittown, received minor damages, police said. Hartnett was uninjured.

Police said the mishap occurred at 10:30 a.m.

Driver Sought In Hit-Run

Bristol Township police are seeking a hit-run motorist involved in a crash Saturday night at Route 13 and Green Lane.

Edward J. Wargo II, 18, of E. Warren St., Edgewater Park, N.J., told police he was turning off Green Lane on to Route 13 toward Levittown when his car was struck by an auto which failed to stop.

Martha May Hood, a passenger with Wargo, told police the car, a 1955 or '56 Chevrolet, sped off on Route 13 to the De-Grand Diner, where it turned off on to side roads.

No one was injured in the accident at 11:25 p.m. Damage to Wargo's auto was estimated at $200.

Freddie Mills' Death Suicide

LONDON (UPI)—A coroner today returned a verdict of suicide in the death of one-time world light heavyweight champion Freddie Mills.

Mills, 45, was found dead early Sunday, July 25, with a bullet wound in his head.

Christine Marie Mills said her husband had a pneumonia virus and "had been worried." But she said he never talked to her about suicide.

Two Philadelphia men narrowly escaped injury last night when their car flipped over on Street Road, near Mechanicsville Road, Cornwells Heights.

Bensalem police said an unidentified motorist said the two men were riding in a car along Street Road, now undergoing construction, when it veered off the regular road and fell several feet into a roadway under construction. The motorist said the car flipped over four times.

The driver of the car was Thomas Eccleston of 8120 Verwood Road. His passenger was Raymond Rooney, 23, of Franklin St. Rooney was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by a

No Nations Bomb-Free

GENEVA (UPI) — Neither Russia nor the Western powers is willing to grant non-nuclear nations guarantees of protection against atomic attack or blackmail, informed sources said today.

The sources at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference said the question of guarantees added to existing complications on the issue of halting the spread of nuclear weapons.

The greatest immediate roadblock to any treaty on non-proliferation is the Russian demand that the West scrap all plans for a multi-lateral nuclear force (MLF) under NATO.

The Russians insist MLF must be dropped before talks on halting the spread of nuclear arms can even begin.

Canada has led the non-nuclear nations in proposing the big nuclear powers give them safeguards against atomic attack or blackmail if they pledge not to acquire nuclear weapons.

The United States and Britain are sympathetic to the request. But they are reluctant to grant it because of the grave political and military considerations involved.

The Russians, in informal comments outside the conference meeting room, also have turned down the idea of a nuclear guarantee.

Zainea Resigns As L. M'field Manager

By ED GLOWKA
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Joseph Zainea, Lower Makefield Township manager since February, has resigned following two weeks of conflicting statements, controversy and speculation.

Zainea, 29, who came to the job from Grand Rapids, Mich., was reported to be on his way out of the post when Russell F. Carter, chairman of the board of supervisors, stated at a meeting last month that the board had interviewed a prospect for the job. Zainea was on vacation at his mother's home in Grand Rapids at the time of Carter's statement.

Later Carter said the board "only interviewed a prospective manager" and "it's up in the air," referring to Zainea's reported dismissal.

Dissatisfied

On another occasion Carter said the board was dissatisfied with Zainea's work but would not elaborate on the statement, nor would he say what area of work was "unsatisfactory."

Still later, Carter told a newsman that Zainea "would not be fired" only to state later that "I had to say something. He is going to resign."

It is reported the board of supervisors plans to hire Raymond Westerfield, former manager of Lower Southampton Township, to fill the vacancy created by Zainea's resignation.

Westerfield is reported to have been the candidate the board of supervisors interviewed while Zainea was on vacation.

The township manager's post pays an annual salary of $8,500.

In his letter, which was submitted to the supervisors on Friday and made public today,

Zainea said he was resigning from the position "because there has always existed between us a sharp disagreement on the underlying policy that must be followed in administrative matters and I am specifically referring to what I feel is the disabling nature and intent of the ordinance establishing the position of township manager."

Statement

He also said, "In the light of the events of the week of July 11, 1965, (the week he was on vacation and Carter stated he would be fired) I could only assume that you would welcome an early opportunity to secure a different arrangement for the management of the township's business affairs that would be more in sympathy with your views."

Zainea would not comment on any specifics surrounding his resignation, nor would he make any comment on the board's policies or actions.

Although his resignation is "as of Aug. 3, 1965" and he will be in the township manager's office today and tomorrow, Zainea said he would be available to the board on an "on-call basis" for the balance of the month.

No Comment

Zainea would not comment on his plans for the future, saying only that he would seek other

Scammell Visiting CG Academy

J. Harry Scammell, a student at Pennsbury High School, was one of 150 young men who attended the U.S. Coast Guard Academy's Activity Week, recently at New London, Conn.

Held annually since 1955 the program provides an unusual opportunity for a selected group of students from all over the nation, to live together under the same conditions as the cadets.

Scammell, the son of Justice of the Peace and Mrs. Robert W. Scammell, Newtown Road, Yardley, was among those top high school scholars invited to the academy by the Coast Guard under the joint sponsorship of the Coast Guard and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The selection of a candidate is made on a strict competitive basis from among those students who meet the high standards of qualification.

In order to be considered for competition a student must be in the top quarter of his high school class, be in the 10th or 11th grade, and expect to obtain the academic credits necessary to participate in the nationwide examinations for entrance to Academy cadetship commencing in December of his senior year, be not over 18 years of age and have the potential of qualifying as a candidate for cadetship from a physical, mental, and moral viewpoint.

Members of the Auxiliary arrange for, and defray expenses of the candidate's transportation to and from the Academy. The Coast Guard provides lodging and food at the Academy, as well as other incidentals while the young man is taking part in Activity Week.

Arrest Two For Fighting

Two men were injured in a fight outside a Morrisville tavern early Sunday. One of the men, Ronald Glunt, 34, of 1215 One Grove Road, Lower Makefield, was admitted to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, as a result of the fighting.

The second man, William Cominski, 23, of 604 Center St., Trenton, was treated at the hospital for a cut over his right eye and an injured right hand.

Cominski was released in $100 bail for a further hearing Friday before Justice of the Peace, Neal Nolan. Glunt will be placed on bail when he is released from the hospital, for a hearing at the same time.

The two men were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and fighting by Ptl. Frank Picciotti, Harry Tomlinson, Kenneth Crouse and Salvatore Scurti, when they responded to a call to the scene.

Three Fined By JP Nolan

Three men were fined by Justice of the Peace, Neal Nolan in Morrisville over the weekend, on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

John Dutton, 20, of 501 Court B, Bristol, was fined $75 and nine dollars costs by Nolan after he was arrested by Morrisville police and charged with underage drinking and disorderly conduct.

JP Nolan fined Charles Feifer, 20, of 207 Old Blvd., Fairless Hills, on charges of disorderly conduct and underage drinking. Nolan set the fine at $40 plus costs.

Dale Warmingham, 23, of 46 Harrow Road, Levittown, was fined $25 and costs for being drunk and disorderly.

All three men were arrested by Ptl. Kenneth Crouse and Stephen LaGaza.

employment.

Zainea's resignation is the second change in the township's appointive posts within the last month.

Earlier this month the board ousted its solicitor, James Fitzcharles 3d, who had been the township solicitor for eight years and the sewer authority's solicitor for two years, on a charge the two posts were in conflict.

New Solicitor

The board appointed Roland Sykes, assistant district attorney and law partner of Myron Harris, Bucks County Republican chairman, to the post following Fitzcharles' dismissal.

Zainea came to the post to replace William H. Struwe, who resigned as township manager earlier this year to take a similar post in Moorestown, N. J.

Water For Philadelphia

Propose Pumping Station At Yardley

A report that a proposed new pumping station for Philadelphia will be located in or near Yardley, has been released by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The proposed pumping station would be able to take as much as 500-million gallons of water out of the river for the city. Plans call for a long pipe line to carry the water to the city from the Yardley area.

At present the corps is studying the proposal to pump the water from above the Trenton intakes. The move is apparently in response to the water crisis affecting Philadelphia, which is faced with a movement upstream of the salt water front.

The present line of demarcation between fresh and salt water is now located about 19 miles below the city's Torresdale Pumping Station.

A similar plan was proposed by the city in 1945 but was never carried through because of the excessive costs in moving the water such a great distance.

The plan has been revived for further study because of the water crisis which has been affecting the city, as well as the entire Delaware River Basin.

New Level

The water level in the river has been at an all-time low because the drought which has been plaguing the area all summer. In July the flow at Morrisville dropped close to a new record low level.

To ease the water shortage in the river, the Delaware River Basin Commission ordered a 30-day emergency program and since that time two New York City reservoirs have been dumping 200 million gallons of water into the river every day.

Despite the additional water being dumped into the river, the flow rate has not been sufficient to keep the salt front from moving closer to the city.
